

BIRDWATCHING IN THE ALBANY AREA

Albany is a great place for birdwatching. With its many different habitats more than 200 species of birds can be found in the region. They range from rare endemics to migratory shorebirds which visit the area from northern Asia/Alaska during the summer months. Several rare and endangered species survive in the coastal heathlands east of Albany, including Western Ground Parrot, though lack of recent records is worrying. Threatened birds such as Hooded Plover, Carnaby's and Baudin's Black-Cockatoo breed in the area. Most of the birds endemic to WA can be readily seen in the area. Western Rosella, Red-capped Parrot, Western Spinebill, Red-eared Firetail, Red-winged Fairy-wren and White-breasted Robin are common around Albany. Offshore islands provide breeding sites for birds such as Flesh-footed Shearwater, Great-winged Petrel and Little Penguin. The sites listed in this guide should provide both novice and expert birders with good bird watching opportunities.

1. TORNDIRUP NATIONAL PARK

Located off Frenchman Bay Road, this national park boasts extensive heathlands overlooking magnificent coastal scenery. Birds to look out for are Grey Currawong and honeyeaters such as Western Spinebill, Tawny-crowned Honeyeater and Western Wattlebird. Seabirds can be seen off the coast in winter.

2. RUSHY POINT, LITTLE GROVE

During summer the tidal mudflats of Princess Royal Harbour are a great place to look for migratory shorebirds such as Pacific Golden Plover, Great Knot and Ruddy Turnstone. Cormorants and terns are also present.

3. ELLEN COVE BOARD WALK

This wheelchair accessible walk begins at Middleton Beach and winds through coastal heathlands offering great views of King George Sound. Look for Southern Emu-wren and Red-winged Fairy-wren in the low heath. Red-eared Firetail and White-breasted Robin are easily found as is Brush Bronzewing.

4. LAKE SEPPINGS

Located off Golf Links Road this wetland provides a home for many waterbirds such as Blue-billed Duck, Musk Duck, Hoary-headed Grebe and cormorant species. The Australian Reed-Warbler is often heard and Red-winged Fairy-wren, Golden Whistler and White-breasted Robin are residents.

5. EMU POINT BOAT HARBOUR

During summer this is a good place to watch shorebirds foraging on the Oyster Harbour mudflats. Year-round you can find terns, oystercatchers, cormorants and pelicans.

6. LOWER KING BRIDGE

Australian Hobby roosts in this small park off Nanarup Road. Whistling Kite and Eastern Osprey are also regularly seen nearby. During summer Common Sandpiper, Common Greenshank, Whimbrel & Eastern Curlew may be spotted from the bridge. Little Egret and Yellow-billed Spoonbill also visit the area.

7. KALGAN RIVER ESTUARY

A small parking area off Kalgonak Lane offers access to extensive mudflats in summer. Australian Pied Oystercatcher, Red-necked Stint, Sharp-tailed Sandpiper, Grey Plover, Greater Sand Plover and Common Greenshank are among the shorebirds regularly present.

8. LUKE PEN WALK, KALGAN RIVER

This walk between the end of East Bank Road and Upper Kalgan Bridge offers waterbirds such as ducks and cormorants. Bush birds common in this area include thornbills, both Splendid and Red-winged Fairy-wren, Striated Pardalote and Grey Currawong. Western Yellow Robin is also possible.

9. TWO PEOPLES BAY

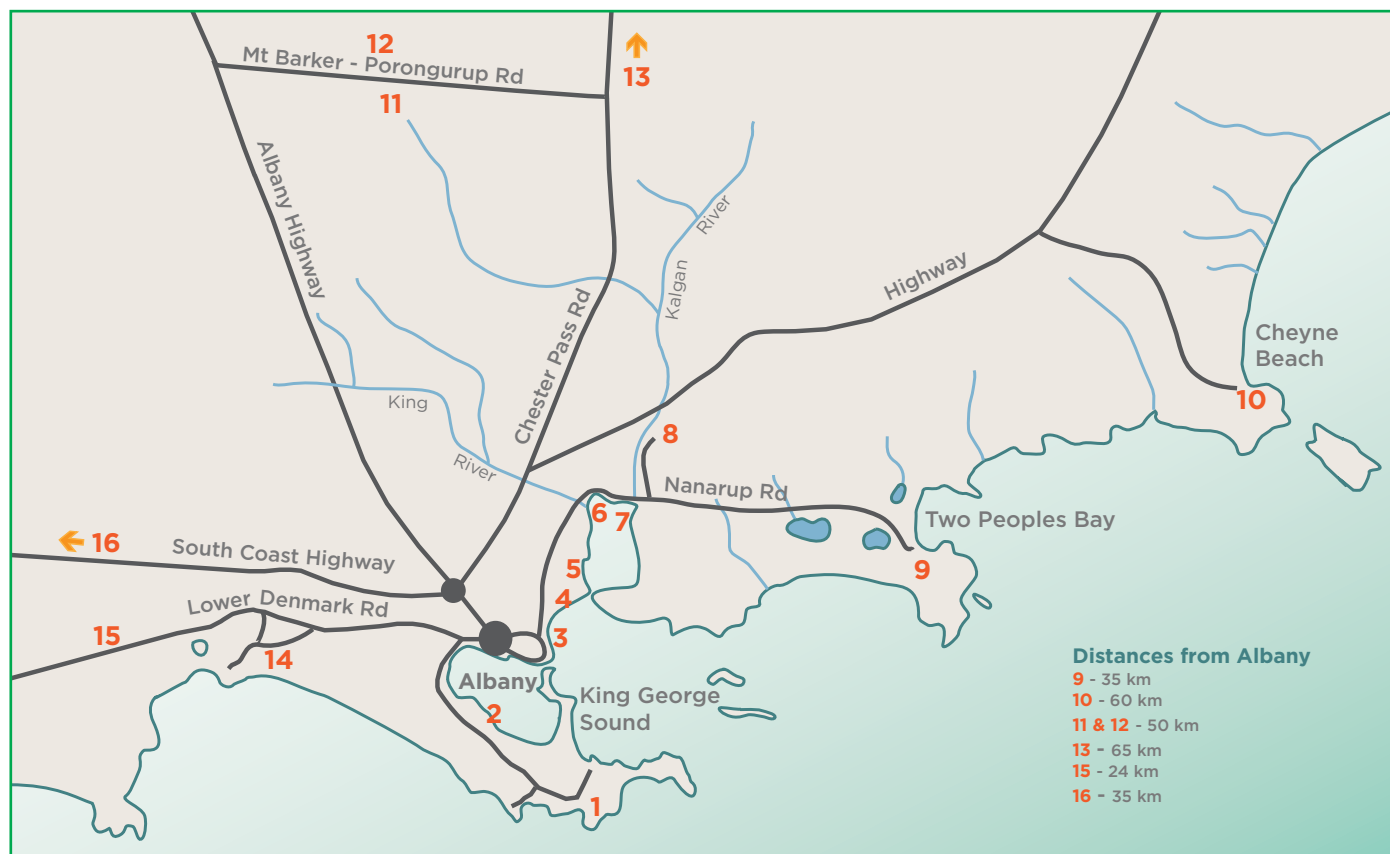

Home of endangered species such as Noisy Scrub-bird, Western Whipbird and Western Bristlebird, this reserve is also a haven for many honeyeaters, Southern Emu-wren and Red-eared Firetail. The rare species are more likely to be heard than seen. Also look for Rock Parrot near the beach.

10. CHEYNE BEACH

The coastal heathlands are a good place to look for Noisy Scrub-bird, Western Bristlebird and Western Whipbird. Southern Emu-wren, Western

Red-capped parrot

Wattlebird and Tawny-crowned Honeyeater are common. Also look for Brush Bronzewing and Brown Falcon.

11. PORONGURUP NATIONAL PARK

Porongurup National Park with its stands of Karri trees is an excellent place to observe Rufous Treecreeper, Western Rosella, and White-breasted Robin. Look for Purple-crowned Lorikeet, Spotted and Striated Pardalote high in the canopy. Closer to the ground fairy-wrens, scrub-wrens and thornbills abound.

12. TWIN CREEKS CONSERVATION RESERVE

Access to this reserve is from Knights Road about 4km north of the Porongurup Range. More than 75 species have been recorded so far, including Western Yellow Robin, White-winged Triller and Varied Sittella. Most local parrot species can be found here as well as a variety of honeyeaters. Wedge-tailed Eagles nest in the reserve.

13. KAMBALLUP

With its stands of Wandoo, this bush reserve off Woogenellup Road is a haven for nesting birds such as Elegant Parrot and Striated Pardalote. Rufous Whistler and Rufous Treecreeper occur in the reserve as does Blue-breasted Fairy-wren. Other nesting birds include Sacred Kingfisher and a Little Pied Cormorant colony along the Kalgan River.

14. LAKE POWELL NATURE RESERVE

Located off the Lower Denmark Road near Elleker. A short walk leads to a well-hidden bird hide. This is an excellent spot to observe waterbirds including ducks, cormorants, herons, egrets and spoonbills. Australasian Bittern has been observed near the drainage channel. Bush birds including Red-eared Firetail and Red-winged Fairy-wren are found along the access track.

15. TORBAY HALL BIRD WALK

Follow signs to Torbay Hall off Lower Denmark Road. This is a great place to observe parrots, fairy-wrens, thornbills and pardalotes. Nankeen Night Heron is occasionally observed near the creek.

16. MORLEY BEACH/WILSON INLET

From South Coast Highway, take Morley Road to the inlet. In summer this is an excellent shorebird site. Other waterfowl also abound.
